The National Suicide Prevention Lifeline

On January 1, 2005, the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline launched with a federal grant from the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) to Vibrant Emotional Health (Vibrant), a nonprofit, affiliate of Mental Health America based in New York City and one of the largest call centers in America. This service was established with 109 crisis centers throughout the United States using 1-800-273-8255 (TALK). In its first year, approximately 20,000 calls were answered.

For more than 15 years, the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline (NSPL) continued to become known throughout the country as a reliable resource for those in suicidal crisis needing immediate support. Concurrently, a mental health crisis was unfolding particularly among youth and young adults, rural populations, people with problematic substance use, and those disproportionately impacted by suicide. By 2018, 2.2M calls were being answered annually by 170 crisis centers as part of the NSPL.

The Hotline Designation Act

In 2019, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) sent a report to Congress recommending the designation of 988 as the 3-digit dialing code to be used for a nationwide suicide prevention and mental health crisis hotline. The report, mandated by the National Suicide Hotline Improvement Act of 2018, found that creating a 3-digit number “would likely make it easier for Americans in crisis to access potentially life-saving resources.” On July 16, 2020, the FCC adopted rules to establish 988 as the nationwide, easy-to-remember 3-digit dialing code for people in crisis to connect with suicide prevention and mental health crisis counselors. On October 17, 2020, the National Suicide Hotline Designation Act of 2020 was signed into law, incorporating 988 into statute as the new 988 Suicide & Crisis Lifeline and Veterans Crisis Line phone number. The FCC adopted additional rules in November 2021 to expand 988 Lifeline services to text.

Transitioning from NSPL to 988

The transition from NSPL to 988 was no small endeavor. More than 80 area codes, including entire states, had to shift to 10-digit dialing to ensure that calls placed to 988 would reach the 988 Suicide & Crisis Lifeline. All covered phone service providers were required to implement 10-digit dialing in areas that both used seven-digit dialing and used 988 as the

988 Lifeline Today

In 2024, the 988 Lifeline celebrated its second anniversary in July and the inaugural 988 Day on September 8th. Georouting of voice calls was launched on September 17th, which allows cellular phone calls to 988 to be routed to a local crisis center based on the caller's approximate location rather than area code. This provides help seekers with faster, more localized support, ensuring they receive care when, where, and how they need it most. On October 18, 2024, the FCC adopted rules requiring georouting for all wireless calls to 988 (applies to all wireless carriers). Similar to voice, in November 2024, the FCC began the rulemaking process for georouting for text messaging.

Since its launch in July 2022, the 988 Lifeline has answered over 13M calls, texts, and chats
